STANDING REWARD OF $50.

I WILL PAY TO THE PARTY PROCURING a conviction, fifty dollars, upon the conviction of each, or upon the conviction of any of the criminals who have been breaking down my fences. W. WEBSTER. May 15 1906

The smallest grain of aniline will color a ton of wine. A grain of persimmon seeds of which seven thousand times its weight of water. The most trifling disorder will disarrange every organ of the body and cause events of disease and death. It is the little ailments neglected that make the big diseases. Most serious diseases have their inception in a disordered digestion and faulty nutrition. This is true of that most deadly of diseases—consumption. It is also true of nervous prostration and exhaustion and also of all forms of wasting disease. Allments of this description may not only be prevented but cured by a resort to the right remedy.

An unflinching cure for all diseases that have their origin in disorders of the digestion and faulty nutrition is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures digestive disorders, restores the appetite, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, builds healthy flesh and muscle and drives out disease germs. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. Thousands have testified to these facts. Druggists who suggest substitutes are dishonest.

Mrs. Ursula Dunham, of Sistersville, Tyler Co., W. Va., writes: "I should have been dead had it not been for your medicine. I was nearly dead when I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had lost all appetite and all the time, had but little appetite, and grew very thin. The Golden Medical Discovery promptly cured the pain, restored my appetite, and increased my weight."

Dr. Pierce's wonderful free book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent paper-bound, for twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. For handsome, durable cloth covers, beautifully stamped, send ten cents more (thirty-one cents in all), to pay extra cost for this style of binding.

A BEAR STORY.

The Most Wonderful Escape of a Hunter Who Was Up a Tree.

They were spinning yarns of the chase, and this was the contribution of the congressman: "After a pretty hard campaign I went, with a hunting party, to the upper peninsula. I'm not a Leather Stocking or a Daniel Boone with a rifle, but I'm far from having to go inside and close the doors in order to hit a barn. I'd brought down a deer and bagged any amount of small game, but wanted a bear. One morning I had tramped on unusual distance from camp and suddenly came upon three half grown cubs rolling and tumbling over each other in play. I shot one, and the other two beat a clumsy retreat. Setting my gun against a tree, I reached my cub while he was still kicking. "Hearing a noise, I whirled around to find the mother coming at me, her month wide open and her eyes glaring. There was no chance to reach the rifle. I'm no sprinter and took the only alternative by shinning up a tall pine tree. She stopped a minute to examine the victim of my shot and was more enraged than ever as she came climbing after me. Once in the tattered top of that pine, I did some faster thinking, gentlemen, than I ever did on any question of state. The bear was coming and losing no time. I was without a weapon of any kind. It looked as though bruin had the drop.

"But a man in my predicament overlooks no chances. In my vest pocket I had a well filled match safe. In my hip pocket was a pint of brandy, minus one moderate nip. In my hunting jacket was a bunch of tow. I saturated that with brandy, and as the bear approached, I ignited the tow with the remainder. Dividing the tow so as to have two shots, I lit the first half and dropped it on the bear. I didn't need the other half. There was a flash of light, as though a pan of powder had been ignited. The air was filled with the odor of burning hair. The bear lit go and fell down because it was quicker. Then she left a fiery streak toward the horizon and made more noise than any ordinary thunderstorm."—Detroit Free Press.

KNOW HUMAN NATURE.

How Two Black Rescued Turned Their Knowledge to Good Account.

Near one of the gates at the Union station as the long train from Chicago rolled in stood an old colored man. He was bent under time's burden, and it was easy to imagine that he was one of those relics of the south, one of those picturesque characters of old plantation life, that now live only in the memory.

The great engine was panting after its long run, and amid the bustle and confusion of the station the old man looked on listlessly. Then as the passenger cars came through the gate they saw a little old of kindness that touched a tender chord of sympathy in more than one heart.

And the colored man, who looked as if he might be a porter, stepped up and dropped a quarter in the old man's hand. Then he quickly made his way off again, looking half ashamed at his action.

The old man stood looking at the quarter with a smile on his wrinkled old face, and the next man placed another silver piece in his hand. The other passengers followed suit, and the old man had to come off to hold the shower of coin.

Just then the policeman on duty at the station saw the old fellow and started toward him, but with more agility than one could have given him credit for the old man ran in among the crowd and was lost.

Later on under two men's escort, the old man was taken to the station. They were counting over a pile of small coins. "Each seventy-five, he, he! Golly, an old man, didn't I tell yer he'd fetch 'em!" "Tells lak all yer had ter do wuz ter kinder pick de white folks' 'hamed lak, and dey jes' tumbled ovah demselves ter give a pore ole man money. He he! No n cah work ter us, not if dey comes lak dat."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Some Facts About Nansen. Dr. Nansen's first intention as to his calling in life was to study medicine. With the idea of taking the medical examination at Nordmarken, he began to study zoology, and at the suggestion of Professor Collett, in 1881 or thereabout, he shipped aboard a sealing vessel—the Viking—to train himself for the arctic zoological research. During this trip the Viking was for some weeks on the fast ice off the eastern coast of Greenland, and Nansen became well acquainted with the habits of the inhabitants. Even then he wanted to go north and explore, but could not get permission. But he hunted seals and put them in bottles of everything. He brought back with him a sealed package to be sent to Greenland and once it to the western coast.

Meanwhile, by the trip of Professor Collett, he got the place of curator of the Bergen museum, which he held for four or five years, studying meanwhile in his favorite branches of science for his doctor's degree. Three months in 1886 he spent in study at the zoological school at Naples. In 1887 he began preparations for the attempt to cross Greenland from the east coast on snowshoes. He applied to the Norwegian government for $1,500 toward the expense of this trip, but was refused. A Danish gentleman, however, sent him that much money, and he added twice as much of his own (it was afterward raised by subscription and refunded to him). In the spring of 1889 he took his doctor's degree at Christiania, and on May 10 sailed with five companions from Leith, Scotland, for Iceland, in the Danish steamer Thaya. On July 17 they left the vessel near Cape Dan.

On Sept. 27 they reached Akurilik fiord on the west coast, and on Oct. 8 Nansen and Sverdrup reached Godthaab, one of the Danish colonies. There their comrades joined them. They got a ship home the following April and arrived in Copenhagen on May 21, 1889. It was the first time Greenland had been crossed. Previous attempts had been made from the west coast, and the baffled explorers had put back. Nansen's idea was to have safety ahead instead of behind. There was no turning back, because there was nothing to return to. The successful explorers got a warm welcome home, and Nansen became famous and wrote a narrative of the trip.—Harpor's Weekly.

The Only Cure.

"It makes me boil with indignation," exclaimed Mr. Meekton's wife as she laid down the paper.

He waited in silence for her to continue and then responded in a tone of cautious inquiry:

"Does it, dear?"

"Are you attempting to carry on a conversation with me?"

"Yes, dear."

"Then, perhaps, it would be a good idea to find out what we are talking about before you venture any remarks."

"That's what I was trying to do, Henrietta. You wouldn't mind telling me, would you?"

"It's about burglars."

"These you insisted were trying to get into the house last night, all we discovered there wasn't any?"

"I suppose you want to be congratulated for having because you took the police and went down either while I stood on the top of your head?"

"No, Henrietta. I was a privilege, I happened to be in the room when you took my gallantry for granted and stood aside and yielded me the right of way. It was one of the proudest moments of my life."

"Well, that has nothing to do with the case. I was reading of how a woman, with all the weakness of so many of her sex, clung to a housebreaker even after he was sent to the penitentiary. It happens every day."

"I have noticed ever so many cases of that kind," was the reply, "and the more I think about them the more mysterious they become. The remedy is a heroic one, but the cure seems to be complete in every case."

"What are you talking about?"

"Don't mistake me, Henrietta. I don't advise it at all. But it does seem that the only way a woman can get over being scared almost to death over burglars is to marry one."—Washington Star

HOBBS SPARAGUS KIDNEY PILLS
Their Sale in Reno and Vicinity has Reached Enormous Dimensions.
HUNDREDS OF BOXES SOLD YESTERDAY.

Think of hundreds of boxes of Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills being sold in Reno in a single day! And this of a medicine that was little heard of in this vicinity a few weeks ago. No amount of advertising could produce such marvelous sales. Those who have used this remedy have received such benefit that they recommend it to their friends; that, together with the open, frank, honest manner of its introduction, is the proper explanation of its success.

It is vitally important to good health, that the kidneys should be in perfect order. Hundreds upon hundreds of the ailments that humanity suffers from originate from the fact that the human purifiers of the blood are not performing their work properly, and, like anything else that is out of order, should be repaired.

If you are a sufferer from backache, rheumatism, gout, general muscular weakness, neuralgia, headache, nervous exhaustion or generally run down, go to your druggist's at once, and make the best investment you ever made in your life for 50 cents. Get a box of Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills from your druggist, and in a week's time you will have undergone a change for the better that will surprise you.

Greatly Benefited After 14 Years of Suffering.

A reporter called on Mr. E. Coon, of No. 320 Straight street, Grand Rapids, Mich., who in reply to his questions told the following regarding Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills:

"I have suffered for fourteen years with kidney complaint and have been treated for rheumatism by a number of physicians; also taken a large quantity of patent medicine without improvement, in fact I got worse, getting so bad that I have been unable to leave the house for the past two years. I have had such dreadful pains across my back and in my right limb. I have been unable to bend my right knee. My hands and feet were swollen to twice their normal size and I was compelled to use support to move around. I began to take Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills six days ago and noticed a change at once. As you see, the swelling has disappeared from my hands and feet and the pain has left me entirely. I walked six blocks yesterday without much trouble, a thing I have not been able to do in two years. I believe now I will once again be a well man and can safely say that, Dr. Hobbs' Sparagus Kidney Pills are the only remedy that has ever given me satisfaction. I heartily recommend them to all who suffer as I have."

Two Prime Ministers.

One day Sir Henry, Parnell, the late prime minister for New South Wales, was reading a recently published life of Mr. Gladstone, and laying down the volume for a moment he said: "I was thinking when reading of a comparison between Mr. Gladstone's life and my own. When he was at Eton preparing himself for Oxford, enjoying all the advantages of a good education, with plenty of money, and being trained in every way for his future position as a statesman, I was working on a rope walk at 4 pence a day and suffered such cruel treatment that I was knocked down with a crowbar and did not recover my senses for half an hour. From the rope walk I went to labor in a brickyard, where I was again brutally used, and when Mr. Gladstone was at Oxford I was breaking stones on the queen's highway, with hardly enough clothing to protect me from the cold." Truly a striking and dramatic contrast between the early years of two prime ministers.—Pearson's Weekly.

Katz, Agent.FOR THE RELIEF OF AMERICANS IN CUBA.

The fact is now apparent that there is great suffering in Cuba caused by the condition of affairs brought about by the revolution there. Starvation, sickness and other trials that never fail to follow in the wake of war are now threatening the poor Cubans with a harder battle for life than they have yet experienced at the hands of the Spaniards. News comes that even American citizens, residents of Cuba, are suffering all of the trials of the patriots.

President McKinley forwarded a message to Congress yesterday asking for an immediate appropriation of $50,000 for the purposes of relief. Congress will likely act promptly, but when it comes to the distribution of this relief among a suffering people it will be a hard matter to discriminate and only aid those who have a direct claim on America, while perhaps some poor Cuban patriot mother is asking for bread for her child. The action of the President is timely and the appropriation may do much good, but it all serves to illustrate some of the beauties of international courtesy when this great country is compelled in recognition of existing relations to stand idly by and see a people almost in sight of our own shores, yet not of our country, driven by fire and sword, then starved into meek submission while defending their homes and loved ones, and yet this is the age of progression and Christian influence.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

The number of successful secret societies maintained in the United States is given as fifty-two, with a membership of 5,454,323. Benefits to the amount of $640,082,471 have been paid to members or those entitled to recognition by the various orders.

The Masonic, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias orders lead in point of membership and in the amount of direct benefits. There are a number of orders that are more particularly of an insurance character, which have paid larger amounts of money to beneficiaries than the above, but it was in the way of insurance policies.

The compiler of the information and statistics, after giving in detail the membership and financial good accomplished, refers to the teachings of the various orders, and to the fact that there is a constant and an unequivocal reverence for the scripture and an acknowledgement of a Supreme Being as a ruler over all.

And he well concludes that "if all their secrets were paraded before the eyes of the world we should find none directed against the best interests of the country."

NOT VERY ENCOURAGING.

Another exemplification of McKinley prosperity occurred at Desert, Utah, last Saturday when the Bullion-Buck & Champion Mining Company closed down at 6 o'clock in the evening indefinitely and eighty men were thrown out of employment.

The reason given for closing the mine is that the low price of silver and lead will not warrant a continuance of work, and nothing will be done until the outlook of the market is better.

This is taken as a forerunner of what will occur with other mining properties in the State of Utah in the near future. The prospect in not flattering, for what effects the silver miner in Utah must necessarily effect agriculture and kindred industries. Hundreds of men will be compelled to look in other quarters of the country for employment with poor chances of obtaining it. Notwithstanding the endeavors of our Republican friends to keep up their drooping spirits, the outlook is far from encouraging.

COMMANDER BOTLIN of the G. A. R., in Kansas has issued an order setting aside July 19th next, as "Mother Bickerdike Day," and directing every post in the State to hold a special meeting on that date in honor of the celebrated old nurse, that being the 80th anniversary of her birth. The old lady is still living at Bunker Hill, Kansas, and will doubtless be remembered by many old soldiers throughout the entire country.

Public feeling against Flaherty, the tramp arrested Saturday for assault upon the daughter of Rev. Martin Jady, was so strong last night that the officers decided not to take chances by bringing the man into court yesterday. He was examined, therefore, at 2 o'clock in the morning before Justice Millman; held to answer and taken to the San Luis Obispo county jail, thus outwitting those who contemplated administering summary justice.

The Dixon Tribune man says feelingly: "The country editor may not know it all, but he does not remain long in a community without knowing a deuced sight more than he publishes." It is the deciding what to keep out of a paper, more than what to put in, that tries the judgment more than anything else in the newspaper business.

Dispatches from Washington state that McKinley is looking pale and wan and is showing the effect of the office seeking horse. He has lost some of the old time energy and the strain that he is under is breaking him down.

PRESIDENT McKinley's MESSAGE

He Recommends an Immediate Appropriation for the Relief of Americans in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The President to-day sent the following message to Congress: "To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States—Official information from our consulate in Cuba establishes the fact that a large number of American citizens in the island are in a state of destitution, suffering from want of food and medicine. This applies particularly to the rural districts of the central and eastern part.

The agricultural classes have been forced from their farms into the nearest towns, where they are without work or money. The local authorities of the several towns, however kindly disposed, are unable to relieve the needs of their own people and are altogether powerless to help our citizens. The latest report of Consul General Lee estimates that from six to eight hundred Americans are without the means of support. I have assured him that provision would be made at once to relieve them.

To that end, I recommend that Congress make an appropriation of not less than $50,000 to be immediately available for use under the direction of the Secretary of State. It is desirable that part of the sum which may be appropriated by Congress should, in the discretion of the Secretary of State also, be used for the transportation of American citizens who, desiring to return to the United States, are without the means to do so. WM. McKINLEY.

Executive Mansion, May 17, 1897.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations decided to-day to report a resolution carrying into effect the President's message in regard to Cuba. A resolution, appropriating $50,000 for the relief of destitute Americans in Cuba, passed the Senate without division.

The Senate adopted the resolution introduced by Pettigrew, directing the Committee on Pacific Railroads to investigate whether any lands had been fraudulently issued to the Union Pacific Railroad.

The silver Republican members of the Senate and House met at Senator Pettigrew's house last night and decided to support the proposition providing for an export bounty on agricultural products. They take the position that by this system only can the farmer secure a benefit to compensate him for the import on other articles. Senator Cannon will offer an amendment to the tariff bill providing for such a bounty.

In the House Hitt of Illinois asked for the immediate consideration of the bill to appropriate $50,000 for the relief of destitute Americans in Cuba, but Bailey of Texas said that he must object unless the amendment embodying Senator Morgan's resolution for the recognition of the insurgents be added. Dingley objected to the amendment, whereupon Bailey objected to the bill, and the Cuban question was sidetracked.

Eighteen Thousand Striking Tailors.

New York, May 19.—There was no excitement manifested to-day at the headquarters of the striking tailors. William Cohen, business agent of the Brotherhood of Tailors, said: "In this city, Brooklyn and Newark, 18,000 men and women are on strike. The strike affects the entire clothing manufacturing trade. The reason of the strike is the failure of contractors to live up to an agreement made more than a year ago." Cohen said that the Progressive Tailors' Union No. 11, which will meet to-night, will probably order a strike. This union numbers 20,000 men, who make the better class of ready-made garments. The cutters, who have a separate organization, will soon be forced into idleness.

The Greek-Turkish War.

ATHENS, May 17.—Fighting between the Greeks and Turks at Domokos began shortly after noon to-day. The Turks, numbering about 80,000, marched on Domokos. An attack was directed against the two wings, but especially the left wing of the Greek forces. Both sides are fighting desperately at last advice from the scene.

M. Maili protested to the foreign ministers against the Turkish attack on Domokos and Almyros, when Greece, at the instance of the Powers, was acting purely on the defensive.

LONDON, May 17.—The officials of the Greek legation to-day received a dispatch from Athens officially announcing the cessation of hostilities throughout Epirus.

Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias.

HANFORD, Cal., May 17.—The Grand Lodge, K. of P., and the Royal Temple of Rathbone Sisters convened in this city to-day. About one-third of the delegates arrived and to-night the bulk of the attendance will be here. The city is gaily decorated, and a royal welcome was extended to the Uniform Rank in the camp. The first session of the Grand Lodge will be this evening. Red Bluff is a candidate for the meeting next year.

Heavy Rains in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Rain has fallen generally and in large amounts in Northern California. At San Francisco sixty-hundredths of an inch has fallen in the past 24 hours. Little or no rain fell south of here except along the coast as far south as San Luis Obispo.

A TAME LEOPARD.

Which Walked With Its Master About the Streets of Berlin.

Of all the cat tribe, leopards are the easiest to tame and teach. If they are captured while young. When they are old, their savage habits have become fixed, and it is almost impossible then to tame them.

Thirty years ago a curious and well known sight on the streets of Berlin was Von der Madliern with his tame leopard. Baron von der Madliern, when a young man, was for several years German consul in Egypt. While there an Arab friend presented him with a young leopard. It was only a few days old, its eyes not open yet. The young baron determined to make a pet of the leopard and train and treat it like a dog.

The leopard was never confined in a cage, but was always allowed full liberty and was well-fed and petted. He slept on a comfortable rug in his master's room, and if the night was cold crept upon his master's bed and shared it with him. Through the day, indoors and out, he followed Von der Madliern about like a faithful dog and displayed a dog's affection for his master.

He grew by and by into a handsome creature, one of the largest of his species and fluently marked. When he had been in Von der Madliern's possession about two years, the baron was recalled to Berlin and took the animal back with him. In Berlin the leopard occupied the same place in his master's house that he had done before and followed the baron about the streets in the same way.

At last the sight of the creature walking solemnly along beside the man excited quite a sensation in the city, and people crowded to see them pass. But it grew to be an everyday matter, and only attracted occasional notice from the curious or children.

The animal lived to be about 15 years old and much lamented by all who knew it. His story seems to prove that the wildness of such animals is only slightly inherited, and that their behavior may usually be brought out by proper treatment. — Our Animal Kingdom.

ALLEGATION AND WAR.

But the Uninteresting Discourse by the Old Soldier.

"You see, I can't get over the fact," said the old soldier, "that there's a war here in the world that was all due to the civil war. And I don't think where you're going to get any. The man you buy a lead pencil in the stationery store may have a rifle, and so may the man you buy a pair of shoes in the clothing store. You're likely as not the man that's going to kill in the morning, coming along early through the quiet streets, and have been at Gettysburg, and the man that twists the grip wheel of the cable car you ride down Broadway in New York may have marched over narrow corduroy roads, through lofty forests with a gun over his shoulder, and a knapsack on his back.

"You see, you can't tell. The man in the pulpit may have been in it, and so may the man that sweeps the streets. You can't tell about it. The fellows don't stand round and holler about it, but they're heroes just the same—the salt of the earth on this continent—and the world is better for 'em, a heap. They are self-reliant and self-respecting citizens, who help to keep the country sweet. And their children are proud of them. How proud! And they grow up all the stronger and better citizens for this inheritance.

"Still, I believe in arbitration—on principle—and I feel bound to say that I believe in it in practice too. War is a frightful waste of human life and of material. I can't now, and I never could, see the sense of destroying things, and I think the most tremendously foolish thing going is taxing people out of house and home to keep up great armies standing that are finally to be destroyed.

"And still I can't keep thinking that a war like ours, about a real principle, is not without its compensations. It sort of clears the atmosphere, distributes backbone around among survivors and tends to the perpetuation and enlargement of freedom and the benefit of the human race." — New York Sun.

Conductors of orchestras find that the flute is far more often played out of tune than the violin, the reason being that many of its natural notes are not strictly in tune with the rest of the band.

A Well-Known Young Man.
Mr. Ed. Lachman is one of the best known young men in Reno. The following statement will explain itself:

"RENO, September 4, 1896."

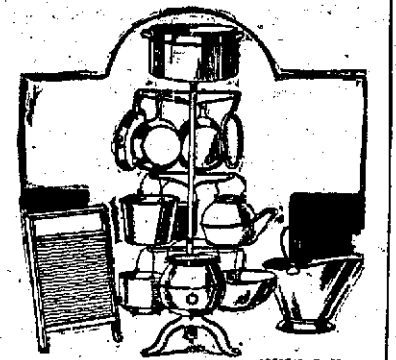

"On Saturday last, while wheeling down the steep grade beyond the Mound House, I had a fall which severely sprained the muscles and tendons about my right hip and so bruised my knee that it was swollen, discolored and painful to the touch. That evening I procured a bottle of Trib and applied it. The next day I could walk and ride easily, and after using Trib twice a day for four consecutive days I was completely cured. I never before knew the value of a good liniment. I shall not be without a bottle of Trib hereafter. Use my name if you see fit. Trib is a good article, the knowledge of which I am willing to add in spreading."

EDMUND D. LACHMAN.
The above was written to the Trib Company eight months ago. Mr. Lachman says that the cure has proved permanent, and that many of his acquaintances have to his knowledge used Trib with advantage.

Hollow Ware

should be purchased only at a reliable store. If the quality of the iron is not of standard grade there are defects in the castings. Defects means burnt spots in the iron and burnt spots mean spoiled dinners. Our hollow ware may cost a trifle more than a poorer grade, but it more than earns its cost in the length of service and satisfaction.

MURDEROUS INDIANS.

Several White Men Killed in South-eastern Nevada.

Sheriff Freudenenthal of Lincoln county telegraphs from the Vegas Valley, Lincoln county, to Governor Badger that an Indian, the brother of Avote, killed four white men in El Dorado Canyon last Thursday and a general outbreak is feared, as six white men have been killed by Avote and members of his tribe since last February. The Sheriff asks the Governor to arrange for troops in case of an outbreak, and in any event to offer a reward for the capture of Avote.

Later news from Kingman, Arizona, is to the effect that the whites demanded the death of the Indian murderers, and as proof that they had complied with the request the Indians brought in the head of Avote's brother. Avote became sullen and lived apart from the Indians. He took his rifle and killed Lars Franzen and Ben Jones, teamsters; Chris Nelson, a miner; Charles Monagan, a miner; J. M. Lorton, an assayer, and John Powers and W. Connolly, two mine owners, besides three other men whose names are not given. The miners then told the Indians if they did not kill or capture Avote they would kill every Indian in the place. The Indians followed Avote's trail into the mountains and shot him and showed the body to John Appel a white man, who was going down the river in a boat.

Some of the Indians are armed and it is feared they will kill the white men who are in the hills unarmed.

Whipple Barracks, Ariz., is the military post nearest to the scene of the trouble. It would be much easier to get United States troops from Fort Whipple to protect the whites in El Dorado canyon than to get militia from Western Nevada. Troops from this part of the State would have to go by rail to Utah and thence to the Colorado across the country. The lives of the miners and settlers should be protected at whatever cost, and if the United States will not protect white people from the wards of the Government the State will doubtless do it. The policy of the Government of late has been to concentrate regular troops in large cities and let the people of the frontier take care of themselves. Fort Mohave, near the scene of the disturbance has been abandoned, but there are United States troops at Salt Lake City and at Whipple Barracks, Arizona, that might be sent to the Colorado to protect the people from the Indians.

"THE ENSIGN."

The Reno Dramatic Club Scores a Big Hit and Aids the Bell Fund.

A large audience greeted the Reno Dramatic Club at the Opera House yesterday afternoon in "The Ensign." The dress circle and orchestra seats were packed, many of the auditors being little folks. The company was at its best and no pains were spared to make the afternoon an enjoyable one for all present. Each individual player entered into the spirit of the occasion and played his or her part up to a professional standard. The benefit will not net the High School bell fund $40 or more and this will be quite a substantial aid towards the purchase of a new bell.

Every member of the Dramatic Club is entitled to the thanks of the school district for their kindness in donating their services.

From the Southern Country.

J. W. Thompson arrived from Yerington on Sunday and is very much pleased with that part of the country. He reports matters lively in that camp and the surrounding country. Eastern capital has been invested and a good sized smelter is in operation with every prospect of success. Forty tons of ore per day can be worked. In the district known as Pumpkin Hollow there are the most flattering prospects and the season promises great developments. The men are receiving $3 per day and there is every encouragement for a bright and lively camp. The people seem satisfied with their lot and a reign of contentment is apparent on every hand.

HAWKROFT-ROBINSON.

Two of Reno's Young People Launch Their Bark on the Sea of Matrimony.

M. L. Hawkroft, familiarly known as Lee, stole a march on his friends on Sunday evening and took to himself a wife in the person of Miss Loretta Robinson. The wedding was a very quiet affair, not even the most intimate friend of the young people being informed that such a step was about to be taken. They kept their own counsel and simply told their future plans after the most important preliminaries had been consummated.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hawkroft are well known, having been residents of Reno for many years, and while the announcement of their marriage will be a surprise their friends will none the less wish them the best of fortune and an unbroken happiness for the future.

The JOURNAL man called on Lee yesterday at the engine house and he was attending to his work in the usual manner just as if nothing of an extraordinary character had happened, and when Jim Carroll tried to look knowing and mysterious, and Lee's brother Hawley endeavored to appear wise, Lee simply informed the reporter in a matter of fact way that people had been getting married for centuries and he didn't see any reason for excitement.

The JOURNAL extends congratulations and hopes that the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hawkroft may be one long and continuous honeymoon.

Nin-Com-Poops

Brother McLaughlin has discovered a race of people that are peculiarly numerous in these last days of the nineteenth century and indigenous to the Pacific Coast. They are of the Anglo-Saxon type in appearance and can be found in all walks of life from the professional, down to the editor of a country newspaper. They usually shine forth with more splendor as politicians and framers of the destinies of municipal, State or National governments. They seldom, if ever, acknowledge their nationality, but by virtue of having by accident been born in America, claim to be Americans. By some peculiar law of nature, or some other law, they thrive for a time, at least until their job, politically or otherwise, plays out. During this time they swell up with an importance that very nearly requires the services of a cooper and hoop iron to control.

They are great men (in their own estimation or in some other fellows that has an idea of using them for convenience). Their ideas of progression, etc., are as a general thing directly in the line of benefitting their own selfish ends. Other striking characteristics might be mentioned and yet not come within the true definition of the word, and although it may seem strange there are a few of these peculiar people in Reno, but it is not likely they will admit the fact.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturers Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, proprietor of St. James Hotel, Fort-Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail, and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemmings, 222 E. 25th street, Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of croup because it instantly relieves. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

A Wise Forethought.

Marshal McNeiley had one of his deputies stationed at the Opera House door at yesterday's matinee to guard against any panic that might occur where there were so many little people congregated. It was wise forethought on the part of the Marshal considering the recent shocks of earthquake, as a scare during the performance might have caused the injury of some little one.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Old Cannon.

If the various Grand Army posts of the country were disposed to take advantage of an offer made at the last session of congress, they might materially increase the warlike spirit supposed to pervade every patriotic family, says the Washington Post. The offer was to supply warlike implements, which, if they have outlived their usefulness, will serve as emblems for post headquarters and might inspire the rising generation with much patriotic fervor. This could be accomplished by accepting the tender of several hundred abandoned cannon and shot and shell which congress has decided to give to any Grand Army post that may apply for them and which are now lying useless and neglected at the navy yards.

These cannon are mostly old style models of engines of war, which might have been considered just the proper thing 80 years or more ago, but which, with the march of progress and the advance of invention, have been placed upon the retired list. Their places have been filled by guns and munitions of war of a more improved type, and as the abandoned articles are valuable only as old metal the government decided that it could put them to no better purpose than to give them to the veterans of the late war, who fought on the Union side with these same guns.

But it is surprising to count up just how few posts of the immense Grand Army have taken advantage of this offer. Since the passage of the joint resolution last winter the records in the office of the secretary of the navy, where such applications have to be filed, show less than 100 from the entire country. There are still guns on hand for about 700 more posts, yet, strangely enough, the Grand Army has made no effort to provide itself with an armament which, although it would be of little service in time of war, is valuable from an artistic standpoint in time of peace.

The Shirt Waist Collar.

It would be interesting to trace many of the so called caprices of fashion to their real source. Many, as is well known, are of historic origin and received their inspiration in the whim of some royal or other distinguished personage. The introduction of the separate collar shirt waist, which has and is enjoying a great vogue, was, it is said, due in the first place to the laziness of a cutter in one of the fashionable tailor shops where ladies' waists are made. He suggested and advocated the style to save work, it was discreetly talked up by the head saleswomen, who received the customers, and the thing was done—well done, too, most women will testify.

An Unwilling Lion.

Radyard Kipling told a feminine admirer not long ago that London society was something which not only palled but quickly disgusted him. Now that he has given hostages to fortune by assuming the cares of a husband and a father, of course he is not free to act as in his bachelor days. But, so he assured his listener, after some months' experience in London in the season before his marriage he went into the slums and lived on the east side for a time for no other reason than to get as complete a change as possible from that artificial existence in which he was called upon to play an unwilling lion's part.

Cooked Foods.

Cooked foods should be eaten moderately warm, not hot. The high temperature injures the mucous lining of the whole digestive apparatus, and by increasing the flow of perspiration renders the skin more susceptible to chills and colds.

The habit of eating hot food also increases a desire for liquids, and thus one bad habit leads to another.

The bridal wreath is usually formed in Germany of myrtle branches; in France and England, of orange blossoms; in Italy and French Switzerland, of white roses; in Spain, of red roses and pinks; in the islands of Greece, of vine leaves; in Bohemia, of rosemary; in Germany, of a crown of golden apples.
